

Grüssen aus Österreich! Melk, Austria

Set up on a hill, Stift Melk overlooks the city of Melk. Uncle Rich, Aunt Frieda and Kristin look down at Hotel zur Post, our home for the night. The arrow points to our room. We all enjoyed this wonderful town and hotel. Seen below, Stift Melk is home to a massive library that covers several rooms and a good part of it's basement, holding priceless books from centuries long ago.

Stift Melk is a monastery that is true to its purpose to this day. Though few monks are in the public view, services are still held in the sanctuary shown above. At night, the Abby is lighted, providing a brilliant background to the quaint town.
